

HBO Freeview - "House of the Dragon" Premiere

DIRECTV and DIRECTV GO will offer a free opening of the HBO package for its customers

On the occasion of the world premiere of House of the Dragon, the TV series set in the universe of Game of Thrones, DIRECTV and DIRECTV GO will offer a free opening of the premium HBO package and its channels for prepaid and postpaid customers of the pay TV service, as well as for OTT subscribers of the streaming platform, from Friday, August 19 through Sunday, August 21.

DIRECTV customers will be able to watch HBO, HBO2, HBO Plus, HBO Signature, HBO Family, HBO Mundi, HBO Pop y HBO Xtreme free of charge. And DIRECTV GO will offer HBO, HBO2, HBO Plus, HBO Signature and HBO Family free of charge.

In this way, they will have the chance to enjoy the long-awaited premiere of House of the Dragon, on Sunday, August 21 at 10 p.m. on HBO, available on DIRECTV channel 524 and 1524 HD and on DIRECTV GO.

Set 200 years before the events of Game of Thrones, this new TV series narrates the fight of the Targaryen, the ruling family, for the succession to the throne and the chaos in which it plunged the kingdom of Westeros, marking the end of the great age of dragons. Based on the work of George R.R. Martin, the cast of House of the Dragon is formed by Matt Smith, Emma D'Arcy, Olivia Cooke, Graham McTavish, Paddy Considine, Eve Best, Rhys Ifans and Steve Toussaint, among others.

The movie Uncharted can also be watched on Saturday, August 20 at 10 p.m. on HBO (524/1524 HD). An adaptation of the popular video game saga, it tells the story of Nathan Drake (Tom Holland) as he travels the world searching for lost treasure with his partner Sully (Mark Wahlberg).

And on Friday, August 19 at 11:50 p.m. on HBO (524/1524 HD), comes the movie Morbius, in which Jared Leto plays a scientist who undergoes a treatment to treat his delicate state of health and becomes a vampire.
